NEW DEAL IN HEALTH BOARD

PRINCE KUPIO RETURNS FROM MOLOKAI WHERE HE WAS THE HERO OF THE DAY—MARK ROBINSON HAS CHANGED HIS ATTITUDE AND NEXT MEETING OF THE BOARD MAY BE A VERY LIVELY ONE.

Delegate to Congress Kuipio returned this morning from his trip to Molokai, where he went to visit the Leper Settlement and tell the inhabitants that, as a result of a new meeting he had with the Board of Health, as related in The Star yesterday, there is now an excellent chance that the much-discussed Wallace will be tried as a curer. Kuipio visited the settlement under a permit. The result of his trip was to considerably quieten the lepers.

Most of the members of the Board of Health are non-communicative regarding the latest turn which the Wallace matter has taken. Attorney General Hemenway who has been opposed to letting Wallace have anything to do with the lepers of the Territory all along said this morning: "I decline to be interviewed. I have nothing to say."

He followed this up, however, by remarking: "I have stated my position pretty plainly in the past and have no inclination to change my views." He declined to say whether or not he attended the little evening gathering at President Pinkham's apartments in the Young Hotel at which Cupid was given authority to visit the Settlement and to calm the trouble there by promising favorable action on the Wallace matter at a later meeting. He did not attend the meeting of the Board yesterday because as he stated, he had reason to think that there would be nothing brought up but routine matter and he could not well spare the time. "You may be assured that had I suspected what was to have developed I should have been there."

Dr. Baldwin also had nothing to say on the matter, except to reaffirm that his attitude towards Wallace had not been changed one iota from what it has always been—that Wallace is a rank fake, and that the Board should not listen to any propositions concerning him whatever.

Dr. Wayson, who heretofore has been the only member of the Board to advise and urge letting Wallace prove himself a faker, with the exception of the Hawaiian member, David Kalanokalani, stated that as things now stand he thinks that the Board is committed by understandings with Prince Cupid. "The next meeting I expect will develop a big fight," he said, "but I look for the results to be different this time from what they have been in the past. If, as I understand, Mark Robinson proposes to cast his vote with Kalanokalani and myself, President Pinkham will have no recourse but to take a position one way or the other. I think I know which way he will vote. I was the one who taunted Hemenway a little about his scruples in changing his mind. I don't know whether he has or not, but I wouldn't be surprised if he has decided to do it. If he does Pinkham's vote will not be needed."

President Pinkham would not talk much this morning. He stated that he had nothing to say, except that the reporters do not know it all, and that time will prove that they have been wrong and he right. He was apparently not in an amiable frame of mind when seen by a Star man.

Charles Notley this morning seemed to be very much elated over the prospective decision of the Board of Health regarding Wallace. "I am very much pleased the Board of Health have seen fit to grant Wallace permission to treat some of the lepers, which has been requested by the Hawaiian people, but for some reason up to now they have seen fit to refuse. Although they have granted this permission unknown to the public, our wishes have been at last realized. If it had not been for the 'Star' we still would have been in the dark."

"I believe as I have done right along that Wallace should be given a chance, if he fails he will have done no more than the doctors have done. No one has been able to cure the terrible disease so far. Leprosy is a terrible thing, and if any one has a remedy I believe in letting them try and cure."

"As the matter has been decided upon by the Board of Health, I can honestly and truthfully say that the matter will not be made a political issue next year. All we have asked for is justice and a fair trial, and we have received it at last. I do not think that President Pinkham has done anything towards giving the permission to Wallace, because if he had been able to run the whole Board the necessary permission would never had been granted."

Prince Cupid when asked as to the condition of affairs at the Settlement replied in the following statement: "I arrived at the Settlement the other day and found everything to be in the best order. There is no trouble at all there; everything is quiet and peaceful. The lepers are satisfied with the treatment that they are receiving, and the whole trouble has been caused by the people here, not up there. The letters that have been written from here have been the cause of exciting the poor unfortunates to a certain extent, but all this talk about danger of bloodshed and riot is all untrue."

"I was met by a large number of lepers from the Settlement who came down half way on the hill to meet me. They are all anxious to have Wallace treat them which is only natural, after hearing that it lay in his power to relieve them of their terrible affliction. Regarding my going up there with special powers invested in me by the Board of Health, I can say that it is not so. I heard that there was trouble up there that might mean something more serious, but when I arrived I found everything to have been very much exaggerated. As to Wallace being given a chance I know nothing about it."

"Wallace has been represented as a Saviour by their relatives and friends here in Honolulu. It is a case just the same as a drowning man grasping for the last straw. If Wallace could cure their troubles then they wanted to have him try. Whatever has been done in the matter here I can honestly say that I know nothing about it. I went up to Molokai on my own volition."

President Notley, of the Home Rule party, on the other hand, says that the people of Kalaupapa would not receive Kuipio at all. Notley got some letters from the settlement, in which the statement is made that Kuipio could not get the people to attend his meeting or hear him at all.

Fred C. Smith stated this morning that he had been invited to attend two meetings at the Young Hotel to talk over the Wallace matter. In the first instance he had not been at home, and in the second he declined. "I have not changed my opinion in the least regarding the question of Wallace," said he, "and shall not do so. No I can't say that I did not know something of the facts as published in The Star yesterday, before that time. I guess there were some of the Board members who were not asked to the meeting, but I was asked."

PLEADS GUILTY OF CRUEL MURDER

KAPAANA ADMITS BEATING HIS WIFE TO DEATH WHILE HE WAS DRUNK.

Kapaana, the Hawaiian who fatally beat his wife Kakaana, while in a drunken fury some weeks ago, was this morning arraigned on charge of murder before Judge Lindsay, and was allowed to plead guilty of murder in the second degree. He will be sentenced on Saturday.

The murderer was represented by Withington and Larnach as attorneys. The woman who died as the result of the terrible beating she received, was one of the group of lepers who ply their trade at the corner of Hotel and Fort street.

BOARD OF HEALTH UP IN THE AIR

MEMBERS NOT AT THE PRIVATE MEETING OBJECT TO WAY MATTER WAS HANDLED.

Much consternation was caused yesterday by The Star's "unauthorized" report of the real mission of Prince Cupid to the Leper Settlement; and coming as it did just before the meeting of the Board of Health yesterday afternoon, President Pinkham spent an unpleasant half hour making explanations which didn't explain.

Fred C. Smith, one of the members of the Board who wasn't on the inside in the deal with Cupid and the other Hawaiian leaders, started the unpleasantness by asking some questions very much to the point after President Pinkham had finished announcing to the meeting that there was nothing doing aside from the routine work which had just been disposed of. Smith held in his hand a copy of The Star when he arose to his feet and asked the President of the Board concerning the truth of the statement that Kuipio had gone to the Settlement clothed with authority to promise the lepers that Wallace should be given the chance that had previously been denied by the Board.

Pinkham's answer was hesitating, and to the effect that he knew of no authority for any such statement. Cupid had gone to the settlement, on a permit, but what the outcome of his trip would be he could not be expected to say in advance. He stated that he had had no news from the Settlement except that things are quiet there, and that various improvements to be made are progressing nicely.

Smith insisted on knowing whether or not it was true that Kuipio had been given the assurances claimed in The Star, but Pinkham was still evasive, and asserted that he is not to be held responsible for things which may appear in the papers, or for what Cupid may do or say.

Nothing more definite was secured from Pinkham, and the meeting adjourned. A Bulletin and an Advertiser reporter then sought Pinkham out but failed to get any information. E. P. Erwin of the Bulletin, took him to task, however, charging him with having deceived him and his paper in regard to news matter; Pinkham the while insisting that he had a right as a private citizen to keep his own counsel if he wished to. Erwin insisted that he had acted in bad faith with him and his newspaper, which had wanted to be fair with him, and assist him in the Wallace matter. Pinkham refused point blank to talk about the matter further and with this the interview closed.

Outside the door of the office in which the Board meeting had been held, the members gathered after the adjournment, and there was a count of noses. Mark P. Robinson admitted that he had been a party to the meeting at the Young Hotel at which Cupid had been given the authority sought. Smith had been telephoned for but was away at the time and had not attended. He denied that he would have done so anyway. Dr. Wayson had not been asked to the meeting.

Attorney General Hemenway, was not at yesterday's meeting, nor was an expression obtained from Dr. Baldwin, but Fred Smith, although denouncing Wallace, and still opposed to the proposition of acceding to the demands for him to treat the lepers, was in accord with Dr. Wayson, who takes an opposite view in this matter, is regard to President Pinkham. Both are "sore" at the way the matter has been handled.

Some interesting developments are due when the next meeting of the Board is held. It is certain to result in another fight on the Wallace question, but the results are likely to be different. Cupid has been to the settlement and has doubtless given assurance to the unfortunates that their wishes will be acceded to according to the promises made at the star chamber meeting. Smith, Dr. Baldwin and possibly Hemenway will oppose the motion, but Wayson, Kalanokalani, and Robinson will vote on Wallace's side, with the result that in any event the Board will be tied and Pinkham, as president must vote. Inasmuch as he has been a party to the secret conclave, it is not hard to guess how he will vote, although heretofore he has kept on the fence.

Acting Governor Mott-Smith is absent from his office today, having accompanied the Hawaiian Planters' Association on their trip to Wahiawa.

OAKLAND, November 2.—Joaquin Miller is soon to visit the Orient. The poet of the Sierras has tired of the quiet days at his home on the Fruitvale Heights and has announced to confidential friends that within a short time he will take passage on an outgoing Pacific steamer for Japan and China.

"It has been a long time since I've been away from California," said the poet yesterday, "and I have been planning a long time to see something of Japan and the Orient. Too old to travel! Not a bit of it. Like the water. Why, yes. I don't mind a lit-

The California pioneer poet will find much of interest in the Oriental countries, and no doubt will give to the public a new piece of poetry descriptive of the nations across the Pacific. The Philippine islands will be covered in Joaquin Miller's itinerary.

MUCH MIXED ABOUT THE SEWALL

DIFFERING ACCOUNTS AS TO PROBABLE FATE OF THE BIG VESSEL.

A comparison of mainland newspaper reports would appear to make it uncertain whether or not the American ship Arthur Sewall is safe, or lost or merely unheard from.

The Call of November 5 has the following:

"The British ship Cambermere, which arrived Sunday night, reports having spoken the American ship Arthur Sewall November 2 off Cape Flattery. The Arthur Sewall is bound from Philadelphia to Bremerton with a cargo of coal for the United States navy."

"The appearance of the Sewall on Cape Flattery shows a mistake in the identification of the derelict, and the shipping world is now wondering what vessel it was. The description of the derelict, while fitting the Arthur Sewall, also fits the American ship Erskine M. Phelps, Captain Graham, which left Philadelphia 136 days ago also for Bremerton. Both the Phelps and Captain Graham are well known at this port, although it is some years since either ship or skipper was in San Francisco."

The Chronicle of November 5 has this version:

"SEATTLE, Wash., November 4.—The report was brought here today by the steamship Cambermere that the American ship Arthur Sewall, reported to have gone ashore in the Straits of Magellan, where her crew was reported to have been killed by cannibals, had been sighted off Cape Flattery. Late today the American ship Erskine M. Phelps came into port, and was tied up at pier 5. The Phelps is a sister ship of the Sewall, and the fact that she arrived about the same time the Sewall was said to have been sighted makes it possible that she was mistaken for the overdue collier."

"It is seven months since the Sewall was spoken, and even the Pacific Coast Company, which had a cargo of 5000 tons of coal aboard the Sewall, withdrew hope tonight when the Phelps came into port. In every detail she answers the description of the Sewall, and the Cambermere's report looks like a mistake tonight."

SENSITIVE PLATE CATCHES RAYS WHICH THE HUMAN EYE CANNOT SEE.

LONDON, November 2.—The Daily Mirror reproduces remarkable photographs showing wireless telegraph flashes invisible to the eye.

The most striking photographs of all and one which is without parallel in the history of photography, is that which actually shows the electric emanations from the wires during the transmission of a message from Ireland to Nova Scotia. It is, as a matter of fact, a photograph of the dots and dashes being flashed by enormous electric power from the operator's room at Clifden to the receiving station at Glace bay, over 190 miles away across the Atlantic.

This amazing photograph was taken at 9:30 on a dark night. There were no stars visible and a cloudy sky permitted but a faint moonlight. The photographer, with an expert electrician and another gentleman were stationed some distance from the eight towering 200-foot masts which support the fifty-two live wires that receive and transmit the electric messages. The bare poles stood out against the sky in the pale light, but, incredible as it may appear, nothing of the wires nor the flashes which appear in the photograph could be seen by the human eye even with glasses.

The three men who waited in the soft Irish bog below knew, however, that a message was being transmitted. From the darkness 200 feet above came a terrific continuous crackling sound.

For half an hour the all-seeing eye of the camera was turned toward the darkness above, and then, at 10 o'clock, the shutter was closed. Later the plate was developed, and there, clearly and definitely outlined were the luminous wires, and proceeding from them great flashes of fiery light, some of them sixty feet long.

PLANS FOR A NEW SHIP TRUST

LONDON, November 3.—It is announced that a combination of two big cargo steamship enterprises is in contemplation by the firm of Furness, Withy & Co. The company purposes to acquire the fleets of the British Maritime Trust and the Chesapeake and Ohio Steamship Company, thus becoming the owner of not less than 505,582 tons of steam shipping. A circular to this effect has been issued by Sir Christopher Furness, who is chairman of both companies.

Such a vast fleet of cargo steamers under single control would be unprecedented. For the purpose of effecting this transaction the capital of Furness, Withy & Co., which is now $5,490,000, will, it is declared, be increased to $17,500,000.
